David U. Dutton, 75, Shoots Himself Fatally In City Police Station

Suffered So Much, He Gives as Reason; Note Left on Desk

David Ulysses Dutton, 75 years old, shot himself fatally late yesterday in the police station at the Harrisburg city hall.

Mr. Dutton, retired, resided at the Womack hotel and was a frequent visitor at the city police and fire departments until two or three months ago, when his visits became less frequent because of poor health. He suffered from asthma.

Yesterday, witnesses said, Mr. Dutton went in the front door of the city hall and walked down the basement steps past the door leading into the police department. He turned back and entered this room, where Patrolman Pat Atkinson was using the telephone.

Moved to Hospital

Atkinson said he saw Mr. Dutton pass him as he walked to the south part of the room and in a moment, while he was still talking, he heard a shot fired.

Turning around, Atkinson saw that Mr. Dutton had shot himself. Firemen and a state policeman who were in the fire department quarters hurried into the room and all rushed to the wounded man.

Mr. Dutton was moved to the Harrisburg hospital by ambulance where he died an hour and 15 minutes later. The shooting occurred at 4:40 and he died at 5:05, officers said.

Coroner Elmer M. Gibbons, who will conduct an inquest, said a single bullet from a 32-20 revolver, owned by Mr. Dutton, entered the stomach and came out at the hip, continuing on to make three holes in a raincoat belonging to Chief of Police Ross Lane and going through the side of a wooden police record cabinet. The slug was found inside the cabinet.

The bullet missed Atkinson by two and a half feet.

Leaves Note

Officers who rushed to Mr. Dutton following the shooting asked him why he did it and he said because he had suffered so much. He pointed to the desk where Atkinson was seated and told them to get a note he had left there. He undoubtedly had left it there as he entered the room. The note directed them to notify his son, Harry, who resides in Harrisburg.

The body was taken to the Gibbons funeral home.

Mr. Dutton had lived in Hardin and Gallatin counties before coming here. He had been a policeman at Cave-in-Rock and was a deputy at Shawneetown. He had been retired since coming to Harrisburg four or five years ago.

He is survived by the son, Harry, of Harrisburg; two daughters, Wilma Schneider and Erma Dehn, both of Chicago; one brother, Rev. George Dutton, Cave-in-Rock, and three sisters, Mrs. Mattie Hobbs, Cave-in-Rock, Mrs. Florence Hass, Mt. Vernon, Ind., and Mrs. Carrie Belt, Cottage Hill.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Gibbons funeral home. Rev. Arthur Austin will officiate and burial will be in Westwood cemetery.

Court Petition Threatens New Shawnee Status

Old Shawneetown Asks City Limits Be Re-Established

The corporate status of New Shawneetown is threatened by a petition on file in the Gallatin County Circuit Clerk's office.

The petition asks that a complaint be heard in Circuit court to reestablish the city limits of Shawneetown as they were originally established in 1902.

The petition, for six residents of the community usually referred to as Old Shawneetown, was filed by attorneys W. T. Dennis and Glen O. Jones of Harrisburg. The petitioners are Louisa M. Mathis, Thomas A. Lowe, Joe Chamberlain, Eugene Crane, Paul Stefkoff and C. L. Clayton. Named defendant is the City of Shawneetown.

If the court ruled in favor of the petitioners it would separate New Shawneetown and Old Shawneetown, now connected by a strip of land approximately three miles long and 1.21 rods wide.

New Shawneetown, legally the Housing Authority addition, is now the site of the city administration and the Gallatin county court house.

Following the flood of 1937, when Shawneetown was virtually wrecked by the raging flood waters of the Ohio river, many businesses and residences were moved from Shawneetown to higher land about three miles west on Route 13.

The federal government took an active part in the establishment of New Shawneetown, both in the planning and financial assistance.

Petitions to authorize the moving of the town were filed in August, 1938 and the move was approved in an election held Oct. 25, 1938. The petition now on file in Circuit court alleges the actions were unlawful.

Answer to Petition

The petition points out that the city limits of Shawneetown were determined by city council action in 1902 and alleges New Shawneetown and Old Shawneetown are not contiguous to lawfully established boundaries and the two areas are in separate townships.

Among other things mentioned in the petition, it is charged the city's water system was moved from Old Shawneetown to New Shawneetown, thereby endangering the health of the residents and lowering the value of property.

In an answer to the petition filed for the City of Shawneetown by Bartley, Karber and Hale, its attorneys, the large sums of money expended for improvements in the area of New Shawneetown are listed.

Among the improvements and amounts expended are: County court house $100,000; grade school building $100,000; streets, sidewalks and curbing $100,000; city hall $10,000; sewer system, nearly $100,000; water system in excess of $50,000.

It is also said there are several thousands of dollars in general obligation bonds outstanding and if the petition is allowed residents of the original city of Shawneetown would have the burden of paying off the obligation.

If the annexation of the Housing Addition (New Shawneetown) is declared illegal "it would amount to destruction of said addition for all practical purposes and the public and all the property owners and residents of said addition would be irreparably damaged," it is stated in the city's answer.

The wrangle over the annexation of the Housing Addition and the moving of the city and county government to the present site is not a new situation. At least one other petition has been filed, it is said.

It was learned at the Gallatin county court house that Circuit court will be in session later this month. However, it was said that a ruling on the petition wasn't expected at this time of court.

Broker Identifies $3,500 Jewelry Stolen by Irvin

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Charles J. Funk, 70-year-old retired insurance broker, has identified about $3,500 worth of jewelry stolen from his Los Angeles home by mass-slayer Leslie (Mad Dog) Irvin of Indiana.

The loot — including two $1,000 diamond rings, two watches and smaller valuables — was found on Irvin when he was arrested here last Thursday. Funk told police the articles were stolen from his home on Tuesday.

Police apprehended Irvin in a local pawnshop as he tried to sell the stolen goods. His arrest ended a three-week nationwide search for the boyish killer who escaped the Princeton, Ind., jail, where he was awaiting execution on June 12.

Irvin, condemned to die for one of six murders committed in an Indiana-Kentucky holdup spree, is scheduled to go into Municipal Court Tuesday for arraignment.

He said Saturday he would waive arraignment and return to Indiana, where his attorney is preparing an appeal to his conviction.

Dr. Harry E. Pratt, State Historian, Dies

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Dr. Harry E. Pratt, 54, Illinois state historian and Lincoln scholar, died of a heart attack Sunday, on the birthday of the man to whom he had devoted so much of his life.

Pratt had suffered previous heart attacks and was under the care of a physician. He had been following a schedule of taking long midday breaks. While he did not participate in any of the Lincoln Day ceremonies, he had been called on frequently in the last few weeks for help in preparing Lincoln material by newspapers, news agencies, periodicals, television and radio stations.

He was named state historian by former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson in 1951. He was born in Cambridge, Ill., took undergraduate and graduate work at the University of Illinois, was dean of Blackburn College from 1930 to 1934, served as a professor of history at Illinois Wesleyan University and Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Ind., before entering state employment.

He was editor of the Illinois Historical Society Journal and had been secretary-treasurer of the society since 1950.

He is survived by his wife, the former Marion D. Bonzi, and by a daughter, Mrs. De Vere Boyd, Muskegon, Mich.

Pratt's books include "The Personal Finances of Abraham Lincoln," "Lincoln, 1809-1839," "Lincoln, 1840-1846," "Concerning Mr. Lincoln," and "Lincoln's Rise to Power." He wrote numerous articles on Lincoln and other historical subjects for historical publications.

Commenting on the historian's death, Gov. William G. Stratton said he was "a valued and trusted public servant. His position as state historian will be difficult to fill."

Two Brothers Report Finding Fabulously Rich Uranium Mine in New Jersey

LAMBERTVILLE, N. J. (UP) — A uranium rush may start in New Jersey—if the discovery claims of two New York public library geologists are true.

Two Negro brothers claimed Sunday to have found a "fabulously rich uranium mine about 60 miles southwest of metropolitan New York."

Alvin and Vernon Gatling, of South River, N. J., declared their strike is worth "at least five million dollars and possibly 20 times that amount."

Their lawyer, former U. S. Attorney Walter Gay, of Philadelphia, said the Atomic Energy Commission has granted a license to the brothers after government assays proved sufficient ore for processing.

Alvin, 25, and Vernon, 28, said the assay by the U. S. Department of Mines showed their 400-acre claim contained an average two per cent raw uranium.

Uranium is purchased by the government by the ton on a sliding scale starting at a test of one-tenth of one per cent. Ore testing at five per cent would sell for about $1,000 per ton.

The Gatlings said samples taken from their mine have tested as high

NAACP Official Attacks Stevenson Stand on Racial Integration

Lincoln's Tomb Ceremonies End; Hall Believes Ike Will Run

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — A top official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said Sunday that Negroes "resent and reject" Adlai E. Stevenson's stand on racial integration.

Roy Wilkins, the NAACP's executive secretary, attacked Stevenson for advising an audience of California Negroes to "accommodate themselves to gradual enjoyment of their citizenship rights."

"No one cheered this sentiment except those whose basic rights have not been restricted or denied," Wilkins said.

"The Negro himself is American enough to resent and reject the suggestion that any American should refuse to claim those rights which have been declared to be his under the Constitution," Wilkins added.

Wilkins spoke at the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, where he laid a wreath in observance of the Great Emancipator's 147th birthday. In a speech later, he delivered still sharper attack on Sen. James O. Eastland of Mississippi and other southern opponents of racial integration in the schools.

Stevenson, Illinois' former governor, reasserted his civil rights stand at Portland, Ore., Sunday. He said the school segregation problem should be kept out of politics and that "it is reason alone that will determine our rate of continued progress" on the issue.

Wilkins' criticism of Stevenson was mild compared with his dinner speech attack on Southerners opposing the admission of a Negro woman student to the University of Alabama.

The NAACP leader spoke of riots at the university last week and said they were "a direct result of the preaching of racial inequality and the justification of any means to maintain that inequality by those in high places in the South."

He leaves the following children: Claude Rector, 316 West Baker, Hugh Rector and Onley Rector, both of Harrisburg RFD 2; a half brother, Walter Rector, Harrisburg; two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Parks and Mrs. Ritt Porto, both of Harrisburg; also four grandchildren, Marjorie Rector, Janet Pickering, James Albert Rector and Dorothy Lee Rector, and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Carrier Mills Baptist church. Rev. Ernest Ammon will officiate and burial will be in Cedar Bluff cemetery south of Harrisburg.

The body is at the Thornton funeral home in Carrier Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas recently moved to Greenville, Ky., where he is employed by the Ayrshire Coal Co., which is developing a new field in the Central City, Ky., area. Their home was sold through the Erton Real Estate brokers.

House Group Blasts Servicemen's Quarters In Caribbean Area

WASHINGTON (UP) — A house subcommittee reported today that "filth, vile stench, open sewers, disease and rat infestations" make the quarters for some U. S. servicemen in the Caribbean area "unfit to house livestock."

The subcommittee said "words are totally inadequate to describe how deplorable these quarters are" in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and in the Panama Canal Zone.

The House Banking subcommittee, headed by Rep. Albert Rains (D-Ala.), made the statements in a report on military housing. The subcommittee visited 10 military installations in the United States and abroad.

Ellender Warns Veto Will Mean No Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) warned today that there "won't be any" new farm program if President Eisenhower vetoes a pending bill calling for a return to rigid high price supports.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson said Sunday he would urge the President to veto the measure despite the fact that the administration-backed soil bank program is written into it. Benson added that the President probably would veto the measure even if he didn't recommend it.

But Ellender cautioned that a presidential veto would mean "there won't be any" farm bill. He said Congress couldn't override the veto and, at the same time, a new and separate bill containing only the soil bank plan couldn't be passed in time to give farmers any relief this year.

Ellender said there isn't "any doubt" the Senate will approve the pending bill and send it to the President despite veto threats. The House approved a high-support bill last year.

Step Backward, Benson Claims

But he said he doesn't believe Mr. Eisenhower would veto the legislation because "I think he can be convinced" of its worth. He said a return to high price supports is "the only immediate relief" farmers can expect. The soil bank plan is long range relief, he said.

Benson, appearing on a television program, called the bill approved Friday by Ellender's Senate Agriculture Committee "a step backward." The measure provides for a return to rigid price supports on certain basic crops at 90 per cent of parity in place of the administration's flexible 75 to 90 per cent of parity program now in effect.

Benson also criticized the measure because it returns to an old system of computing parity, which he termed "indefensible," and because it calls for higher supports on dairy products.

The agriculture secretary said rigid high price supports tend to stimulate surplus production. But Ellender said there are not going to grow more as a result of high supports because they will be participating in a restricted acreage program under the soil bank plan.

Both Neff and his attorney were pressed by reporters to elaborate on Neff's testimony that he had made no contribution to any other senator's "personal" campaign fund.

Neff declined comment. Ivan Evans, his attorney, engaged in a brief but stormy exchange with newsmen which offered little clarification.

"We wanted to make it clear that we had made no other contribution to the personal campaign funds of any senator," Evans said. A newsmen immediately asked whether Neff had contributed to funds that helped elect any other senator. "Now wouldn't you like to know," the attorney said, walking away from the newsmen.

"If I gave a five dollar bill to you," Evans said, turning to face the reporters again, "it might go for the election of a senator."

Two Youths Held Here Returned To North Carolina

Two uniformed deputies from the Sheriff's department of Iredell county, North Carolina, came to Harrisburg Saturday and left with a couple of Saline county jail prisoners, James Arthur Trent, 19, and Kenneth A. Bishop, 18, held here for the past week.

Bishop, from Murphysboro, Ill., an AWOL Marine, and Trent, from Statesville, N. C., broke the Statesville jail, where they were held on auto theft charges, on Feb. 1. They stole two cars on their getaway attempt, wrecking one at a roadblock in Indiana, before they were arrested near Wason by Saline county officers. In jail here the two attempted to dig their way to freedom but their plan was halted before it could make too much progress.

Deputies making the trip to Harrisburg were E. E. Benfield and R. E. Perkins. They reported that Statesville was a city of 17,000, that Iredell county had a population of 74,000.

He was a graduate of the Galatia Community high school and attended Southern Illinois university prior to entering the U. S. Army where he spent several months in Korea.

Besides his parents he leaves his brother, Eugene, another brother, Phillip, and a sister, Wilma, all at home.

Investigation Recessed by Senator George

Hennings Quits Second Committee For Broader Probe

WASHINGTON (UP) — Oil company attorney John M. Neff, who tried to give Sen. Francis Case a $2,500 campaign contribution, testified today that he had not contributed to any other senator's personal campaign funds in connection with the natural gas bill.

He gave this testimony as a blue ribbon Senate committee investigating the contribution wound up its hearings at least for the present. The special committee, headed by Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) recessed its investigation "indefinitely" after hearing Neff.

Meanwhile Sen. Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo.) announced that he is resigning as chairman and a member of the Senate Elections subcommittee to clear the way for that group to make a "far broader" investigation of campaign contributions to all senators than was made by the George committee.

Hennings bowed to an unwritten Senate rule that such inquiries should not be conducted by members who are up for re-election, as Hennings is this year. He said he did not agree with assertions that he was unqualified to direct the inquiry, but is quitting the subcommittee anyway because "I can on the subcommittee to serve as no longer permit my membership a refuge for those who may be adversely affected by an investigation."

After ending its hearings, the select committee decided in closed door session to hold "one further meeting," George said. But he added that the meeting cannot be held this week "because we just haven't got the material we need," and two committee members will be out of town.

Committee sources said the committee wants to obtain certain records, reportedly some checks to Democratic and Republican fundraising rallies.

No Other Contribution

Both Neff and his attorney were pressed by reporters to elaborate on Neff's testimony that he had made no contribution to any other senator's "personal" campaign fund.

Neff declined comment. Ivan Evans, his attorney, engaged in a brief but stormy exchange with newsmen which offered little clarification.

Rites in Brushy For J. L. Braden, Killed by Train

Funeral services were held today at 2 p. m. at the Brushy church for James Lewis Braden, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Braden of the Brushy community who met his death when struck by a train in Gary, Ind., Saturday at 7 a. m.

Braden, who had been employed in Gary for some time, was driving his brother Eugene's automobile which skidded and stopped at a 180 degree angle on the railroad tracks. A 12-inch snow covered the ground. It was never determined whether Braden saw the approaching train.

He was on his way to the station to meet his fiancée, Miss Nina Ruth McDaniel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McDaniel of that city, who was arriving to choose an apartment for them following their wedding Feb. 25. Miss McDaniel spent the entire day in a hotel, not learning until Saturday night of the tragedy.

He was a graduate of the Galatia Community high school and attended Southern Illinois university prior to entering the U. S. Army where he spent several months in Korea.

Besides his parents he leaves his brother, Eugene, another brother, Phillip, and a sister, Wilma, all at home.

Eisenhower-Eden Talks

Editorial — BY BRUCE BISSAT
If nothing more came out of the Eisenhower-Eden talks than a reaffirmation of U. S.-British friendship, they would have been marked down as worth while. But in fact considerably more emerged.

Most specifically, the two nations pledge that, in company with France, they will take action to preserve the peace in the Middle East. Tri-country conversations to that end will begin soon.

Recognizing that this is now the world's most dangerous sore spot, the President and Sir Anthony see, too, that mere talk will not ease the peril.

The coming tri-partite meeting is intended to deal with specific military measures aimed at deterring Arab and Israeli leaders from fighting, or halting war if it should start. The currency of these conversations will be the deployment of naval, air and ground forces strategically on the fringes of the trouble zone.

It is fervently hoped that neither disputant will push to the limit when it understands the West is backing its resolve with force. Once that is clear, the way to a genuine settlement may be opened.

Mr. Eisenhower and Sir Anthony placed blame on the Soviet bloc for heightening the risk of Middle East war by arms shipments to the contending countries.

Actually their verbal assault upon the Communist world was much broader than that. In the most stirring part of the Eisenhower-Eden declarations, they warned the peoples of all Africa and Asia to beware of Communists bearing gifts.

With striking effect they compared Western performance with that of Communists on promises of self-determination and independence for dependent peoples.

In the past decade the West has helped 600 million people in 20 countries to gain nationhood. In the same period in Europe alone the Soviet Union has snuffed out independence and freedom for 100 million persons in 10 countries once sovereign powers.

In drawing this parallel the President and Sir Anthony seemed to be trying to brand Russia as the world's greatest colonial oppressor.

The British prime minister stood with Mr. Eisenhower, too, in asserting their joint defense of human rights everywhere and pledging their peaceful restoration wherever they have been "temporarily" lost to communism.

And they made plain that whatever differences might show between America and Britain, the two are firmly committed to holding a strong line all around the world further against Communist aggression by force or subversion.

As was anticipated, the talks just concluded were reasonably fruitful, without producing startling results. They represent another solid milestone along the path of a great international friendship.

General Motors To Change Pacts With Dealers

DETROIT (UPI)—General Motors Corp., apparently acting on complaints of some auto dealers, today announced important changes in contracts with its 18,000 car and truck dealers.

GM President Harlow H. Curtice described the revised contracts, which go into effect next month, as "the most equitable and progressive in the industry." Major changes include appointment of an impartial umpire to handle appeals by dealers on decisions from various divisions of the auto firm; granting larger allowances on new cars of the preceding model year still in stock when a new model is announced; assumption by GM of all warranty adjustments; and the company also will absorb all direct mail advertising costs as well as splitting equally with dealers the expenses of sales contests and owner magazines.

Port Royal, Nova Scotia, settled in 1805, was Canada's first permanent settlement.

The Daily Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Senator Johnson Pulls Wires To Prevent Expanded Probe Of Gas Lobby; Republicans Join In Blocking Gas Lobby Probe; More Money Was Behind Gas Vote Than Public Realized.

WASHINGTON. — To appreciate the savage intensity with which the usually suave, usually genial Senator Lyndon Johnson cracked down on any broadening of the Case gas-lobbying probe, you have to appreciate a lot of behind-the-scenes factors that the public didn't know about during the natural gas debate.

During that debate George Brown, biggest money backer of Lyndon Johnson over the years, and head of the Texas Eastern Transmission Pipeline, maintained headquarters in the Hay-Adams House in Washington, keeping a watchful eye on what went on in the Senate. Brown, with his brother Herman, is the sparkplug of the big Texas contracting firm of Brown and Root, which has benefited from various lush government contracts, including that for naval bases in Spain. Brown was in constant touch with Senator Johnson during the battle over gas.

During that debate also, Louie Johnson, former secretary of defense, was active on Capitol Hill on behalf of Columbia Gas, trying to change votes. Johnson is a Democrat.

On the Republican side, Senator Payne of Maine received heavy gas-oil contributions when he defeated Senator Owen Brewster. Payne voted for the gas bill despite the fact that New England is in need of cheap gas and power.

On the Republican side also, reports persisted that the gas lobby had promised a big election campaign kitty for GOP candidates totaling up to $2,000,000 if the bill was passed. These reports, extremely damaging, are of the type that Republican leaders should investigate to prove untrue—if they are untrue. But Republican leaders did just the opposite. They rushed in to support Johnson in suppressing the proposed Hennings probe of all lobbying funds in the natural gas battle.

BACKSTAGE WIRE-PULLING
Here are some of the backstage moves made both by Republicans and Democrats to block the broadened Hennings probe.

In the first place, shrewd Lyndon Johnson outsmarted Senate liberals by calling for a vote at 11 a. m. on a closely confined investigation of the alleged Case bribe. This was one hour before the Senate usually meets, and it caught the Senate liberals off-guard — though they had plenty of notice. None of them — Morse, Douglas, Neuberger, Humphrey — was present to demand a broadened probe. So Lyndon passed his narrow resolution calling for a special committee to investigate the Case $2,500 offer and nothing else.

Meanwhile, Missouri's Tom Hennings, then presiding over a meeting of his regular Elections committee, had decided to proceed with a probe of the entire gas lobby and its money. He phoned Senator Case of South Dakota and asked him to appear at 2 p. m.

This immediately got back to Johnson. He had quickly appointed his own special committee, on which were two elderly Democrats, George of Georgia and Hayden of Arizona. Both approaching eighty, they are not accustomed to break-neck speed in their Senate deliberations. But in this case, Johnson saw that they moved fast.

They met immediately in an unusual place—Vice President Nixon's office. There, Nixon made an unusual ruling—namely, that the special committee have no jurisdiction over any gas lobby probe. Nixon is supposed to make rulings on matters of procedure, but this was a substantive ruling.

the special committee had complete jurisdiction over any gas lobbying probe. Nixon is supposed to make rulings in public only from the rostrum of the Senate. But he and Knowland, who disagree on most things, are 100 per cent united on preventing any enlarged probe of the gas lobby.

LYNDON ARGUES

Johnson's office then sent for Hennings. Hennings was ready to confer immediately, but word came back that "Lyndon isn't free." He was conferring at the moment with George and Nixon in an effort to push the special probe ahead of the broadened Hennings probe.

Finally, at 1:40, Johnson was free. Hennings, by that time, was to preside over his own committee meeting at 2 p. m.

Johnson had a sheaf of yellow sheets from a news teletype in his hand when Hennings entered. He tossed him one. It reported that Hennings had called Case before his regular Elections committee at 2 p. m.

"Senator George says you're in contempt of the Senate," the Texan told his Democratic colleague from Missouri.

"Not according to what you yourself said on the Senate floor yesterday," replied Hennings. And he pointed out that both Johnson and Knowland had stated that the Hennings committee had complete jurisdiction to investigate the entire question of gas lobbying.

"But you are up for re-election this year," countered Johnson. "Under Senate rules you shouldn't be investigating matters of this kind."

"Then why did you appoint George and Hayden on the special committee?" shot back Hennings. "Both of them are up for election."

Johnson had no come-back.

HENNING'S IS UNMOVED

"For three years," Hennings continued, "I have tried to get off this standing committee. But every time I've tried, you wanted me to stay on—to investigate McCarthy, or the Maryland elections or Pat Hurley's charges in New Mexico. In deference to you, I've stayed. So it seems queer that today you don't want me to investigate something where you yourself said only yesterday the integrity of the Senate was involved."

Johnson argued that Hennings didn't understand the problem of natural gas, that gas was an extremely important matter politically in Texas.

"This is a matter like the beer business would be in Missouri," Johnson said.

"You may be close to Gussie Busch or Ted Buford down in Texas," shot back Hennings, "but the beer business doesn't influence my vote in Missouri."

Finally, Hennings went back to his committee. Senator Case turned up with a letter from Senator George that he could not meet with the regular committee. He hid in a phone booth with his arm over his face so that photographers could not snap him.

Thus continued the backstage wire-pulling to prevent any investigation of the most powerful lobby that has influenced Washington in years.

Unknown Origin

Exact origin of the custom of sleeping on a piece of wedding cake is obscure. It has been traced back to the early Britons and is found not only in England but in almost all European countries.

Carthage, one of the greatest cities of the ancient world, reached a peak population of a million inhabitants more than three centuries before the Christian era.

Korean War Vet, Former POW, is Awarded Divorce

MINNEAPOLIS (U)—A young Korean War veteran won a divorce on charges that his wife committed adultery and gave birth to a baby while he was in a Communist prison camp.

The divorce of Airman Harry P. Benjamin Jr., 23, was revealed Sunday by Judge Levi M. Hall of Hennepin County District Court.

Hall said the divorce was granted Thursday. It apparently came as a shock to Benjamin's 20-year-old wife, Charlene.

The young woman, staying with her parents at Worthington, Minn., gave conflicting stories about the divorce.

At first, she denied the birth of the baby. Later, she said Benjamin divorced her in order to enter the Air Force Academy, which bars married men. They plan to re-marry after he graduates, she said.

Benjamin was to report for duty at Bolling Field Air Force Base near Washington, D. C., today.

Benjamin was one of 11 Air Force men who were imprisoned by the Chinese Communists after their B29 crashed in the Yalu River area in January, 1953.

They spent 32 months in Red prison camps and were released last August. Since then one of the airmen, Capt. Eugene J. Vaadi of Clayton, N. Y., has divorced his wife. Another, Daniel C. Schmidt of Portland, Ore., found that his wife had married another man. She has since obtained a divorce and returned to Schmidt.

Paul Powell in 59th District Legislative Race

Paul Powell

Paul Powell of Vienna has announced his candidacy for re-election as Representative in the General Assembly from the 59th Representative district, subject to the Democratic primary of April 10 and the November general election.

Rep. Powell was mentioned prominently for a place on the Democratic state ticket or as a candidate for U. S. Senator from Illinois, but chose to be a candidate for re-election as Representative.

Powell is making his campaign on his 33-year record as a Democrat.

He has been a precinct committeeman from Johnson county for 33 years, has been Johnson county Democratic chairman for 10 years, was downstate director for the Democratic State Central Committee for 1945 through 1953, and received personal thanks from Harry S. Truman for his part in Mr. Truman's election as President in 1948.

Powell, representing the old 51st district, was minority whip of the Illinois lower house in 1945, was minority leader in 1947, was speaker of the House in 1949, and minority leader again in 1951 and 1953.

In 1951 and 1955 he was voted the "outstanding Legislator of Illinois" by the members of the press covering the General Assembly.

A powerful speaker and an aggressive contender for measures he believed of benefit to his constituents, he has received the endorsement of labor leaders, education leaders, farm groups and other organizations.

Following reapportionment of legislative districts at the last session of the Illinois General Assembly, this area is now in the 59th Representative district, which includes the counties of Hamilton, Williamson, Saline, Gallatin, Hardin, Pope, Johnson and Massac.

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS: Starting On A Drive

JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University
The pastures are not always greener on the other side of the fence, and neither are all spots of interest far away. It is true that the old villages of New England are quaint, the countryside of the Old Dominion storied, the Rockies awe-inspiring; even Texas has something to offer. It is not necessary, however, to journey to these distant parts to find a place that carries or suggests an interesting story. Moreover, many persons cannot find the time or means for such extensive travel.

When this cannot be done, one may drive out of any southern Illinois town, and so far as that is concerned a town in any other part of the state, and find enough to make the trip interesting. This may be illustrated by choosing a stretch of highway and noting the items it offers. Since this is being written in Carbondale, this hypothetical journey will begin here and proceed toward St. Louis by way of Chester.

Places of Interest
Before leaving Carbondale it might be well to visit two places of interest here. The first one is the old cemetery at the east side of town, known as the place where the organized observance of "Decoration Day"—now known as Memorial Day—began on an April day in 1866. Visitors to the town, as well as those living here who have not yet done so, should go to the university and see the new library—striking evidence that Southern is really becoming a major university.

As the motorist leaves town and goes toward St. Louis, a school house on the north side of the highway just out of town was the first supervised rural school in the state. A very early coal mine of the midwest was opened just south of the highway where it comes to the bridge over Big Muddy. Coal was mined from outcroppings found at the foot of the hills beside the river, loaded on barges and sent down-river toward markets.

The first railway in the county left these mines and followed along the left side of the stream to a point below Fishtrap Shoals. The motive power for this early railway was a mule driven by Valentine Taylor. Steamboats came to this point for barges of coal when water stages permitted. They also passed this point on their way up stream with railroad supplies and a locomotive for the Illinois Central which was then building north of Carbondale.

Gen. Logan Birthplace
A stone marker beside the railway about midway through Murphysboro indicates the birthplace of John A. Logan, noted Civil War general. A lifesize bronze plaque on the high school grounds likewise does him honor. Also, the courthouse records indicate that he may have been a somewhat roisterous youth since he was twice indicted for "Gaming". In one case he was found guilty and fined.

Plantings about the foresters' station at the west side of town offer interest to some. A "hump" in the pavement just beyond the railway underpass is said to be the result of some kind of an earth squeeze, whatever that is. Charcoal ovens about three miles west represent a rather unique industry and afford opportunity to get charcoal to broil steaks. A short way west from the charcoal ovens is the site of the early day salt works established by the Pennsylvania Dutch physician, Conrad Will. About a quarter mile farther west is the site of the vanished village of Brownsville, first county seat of Jackson county and an important town of Illinois during the first years of statehood. One of the first three banks in Illinois was located here. Joseph Duncan, who introduced the first legislation to establish free public schools in Illinois, lived near here. Alexander Jenkins, later to become lieutenant governor, also was a resident. The village had a gristmill, a tannery, a distillery, a ferry, a tailor shop and attorney offices.

Indian Reservation Marker
About three miles down the highway, west from the charcoal ovens, is a turnout where the motorist may pause for a wonderful view over the countryside. At the foot of the lookout is Kinkaid creek. In early days it was crossed by a ferry and it was here that flatboats destined for New Orleans once were loaded.

About a quarter of a mile west of Kinkaid a metal marker points out the location of the Kaskaskia Indian Reservation, last home of five of the great Indian tribes of Illinois, which has died out. About three hundred members. On the right along this stretch of highway and nearer the foot of the steep hills there are deeply cut sections of the old highway that led toward Kaskaskia 150 years ago.

A short distance between the junction of State Routes 144 and 3 are Reed Creek and Jones Pond, named for the first two men of record to settle in the county. Jones later killed Reed, the first recorded murder in the county. For this, Jones was tried, convicted and hanged to a sycamore tree on the commons at Kaskaskia. A marker beside the sunken roadway north of the pavement in this same vicinity marks the site of one of the very early schools under the law promoted by Senator Duncan.

A prominent Indian mound is located just south from the point where the Ava highway joins Route 3 and some excellent specimens of Indian carvings are on rock about a half mile up the Ava road. A few more miles along Route 3 is Degonia Creek. This creek is named for an Indian hunter who supplied William Boone's company of Rangers with meat in the War of 1812. Barbeau's early day trading post was located where Degonia Creek joins the river.

Ruins of Flour Mill
Rockwood, a few miles farther along, was on the riverside until the stream shifted its channel. The ruins of an old flour mill built more than a century ago still stand. Rockwood also had a tannery, steamboat wharf and chair factory whose product is still sought by collectors. This town was a point where runaway slaves crossed the river from Missouri on the way along the Underground.

The Mansker house, long a Mississippi River landmark, stood about a mile north of Rockwood until it burned a few years ago. Some old cemeteries between the highway and the river offer much to those interested in local history. Coal loading docks, recently built alongside the river, may be suggestive of things to come.

Mary River, beyond the coal docks, marks a place where Joliet and Marquette stopped on their downriver trip in 1673. It was here, so it is said, that they learned that the Mississippi flowed into the Gulf of Mexico instead of the Pacific, as they apparently had hoped.

We are out of space and not half-way to St. Louis. Almost any highway chosen will afford like points of interest, some more and some less.

Local Woman's Club Prepares Easter Seal Drive Letters

James N. Porter, executive secretary of the Southern Illinois Association For The Crippled, Inc., the Easter Seal society, reports the Harrisburg Woman's club is now in the process of preparing approximately 5,500 letters for the annual Easter Seal appeal in Saline county.

Mrs. L. B. Kimmel, president of the Harrisburg Woman's club, has indicated that the letters will be mailed into Saline county on March 10 from the Carbondale office of the society, but that individual returns will go to the county treasurer, George O. Daventport, at the Harrisburg National bank.

Mrs. Kimmel urges all who received Easter Seals to send in their contributions as the Easter Seal society does not make any personal contact with potential donors.

Porter reports that over 90% of the funds raised stay in Illinois for services to both crippled children and adults. Two of the most important phases of the society's present program are the annual crippled children's camp and its speech and hearing treatment center.

On an average, it takes nearly ten quarts of milk to make a pound of butter.

Reporters Question Billy Graham About Religion During Mob Violence

By GEORGE BURNHAM
Chattanooga News-Free Press
Staff Writer

DELHI, India — Reporters were lounging around the room in Bombay firing questions at Billy Graham. Mob violence was taking place just a few blocks away. The fact that a press conference was under way was unusual, since reporters had rather write about fighting than preaching. But the most unusual thing about this press conference was the type of questions asked. The reporters didn't ask about Russia, Secretary of State Dulles, politics or segregation.

A writer started it off with this question:

"What must a person do to become a Christian?"

And Billy answered: "First of all, you must acknowledge that you are a sinner and be willing to renounce your sins. Then you must believe by faith that Jesus Christ is the Son of God and that He paid for your sins by dying on the cross. But that's not all. You must invite Him into your heart, humble yourself and surrender your will to Christ. The Bible says if you confess your sins, God is faithful and just to forgive you for your sins and to cleanse you from all unrighteousness."

Almost before he had finished with the answer another writer popped up with this one:

"What is sin?"

"Sin is the breaking of God's moral laws. If you break one of the Ten Commandments you are a sinner. I have broken them. If you fail to live up to the Sermon on the Mount you sin. I have failed to do this. Jesus Christ lived a perfect life, without sin. If you fail to live as good as Jesus you are a sinner. I have never lived a day when I was as good as Jesus Christ. Have you? The Bible teaches that all have sinned and come short of the glory of God. The Bible says we are born in sin and then are sinners by choice."

Another question:

"What happens when a person dies?"

The answer: "You have a body, with arms, legs, hands, nose and feet. When you die your body goes to the grave. But you are more than a body. You are a living soul, created in the image of God. Your soul will never die, according to the Bible. The Bible says that the soul of the Christian, at death, will immediately go into the presence of God and will remain with Him forever. The soul that dies without Christ will be cast into outer darkness, separated from God, in a place that Jesus called hell."

Then a reporter asked this: "What happens when a little child dies? You said they were born in sin. Would a just God punish them?"

Billy answered: "I believe the Bible teaches that all children who die before they reach the age of accountability will go to heaven."

Another queried: "How can a person know that he has eternal life with God?"

The answer: "The Bible says, 'He that hath the Son hath life; he that hath not the Son hath not life.' It is a matter of faith. Faith goes beyond understanding. Surrender your will to Christ and you will know in your heart that you are a child of God. You will lose your fear of death. You will have a smile on your face. You will go out and begin to live the Christian life."

Many other questions were asked along the same line and all were answered with "the Bible says..."

The reporters were milling around in the room after the conclusion of the press conference when one of them walked up to Billy, stuck out his hand, and said: "I want to become a Christian. Will you show me how?"

The reporter had a smile on his face when he went out the door.

Mount Vernon Falls to Salem 53-51 in Overtime

By United Press
Mount Vernon, Quincy and Effingham St. Anthony fell in Saturday night prep basketball upsets and Moline's Ken Anderson topped scoring records with 51 points in the 108-80 Maroon win over Decatur.

It was the first loss of the season for St. Anthony after 21 straight victories. St. Anthony lost to Decatur St. Teresa at Decatur 61-60 in the last minute of play.

Tony Lents of St. Teresa grabbed the ball from Bob Ludwig of St. Anthony and drove down the floor for the winning layup with 52 seconds to play.

A tall Salem quintet, which has lost only to Pinckneyville in its last nine games, handed Mount Vernon its third defeat in 20 games, 53-51 in overtime.

Mount Vernon and Herrin are scheduled to settle matters in the South Seven Conference in a long-awaited clash Saturday night. Herrin, which lost to Mount Vernon by 10 points Dec. 17, trounced West Frankfort 74-55 last Saturday night.

Quincy, ranked seventh in the state, lost its 4th of 24 games and had its win streak snapped at 13 as Pekin overcame the Blue Devils 59-52. Bob Kennedy of Pekin sparked the Chink win with his dribbling and key drive-in baskets in the second half. Pekin is playing without Mike Mertens, its leading scorer ineligible for disciplinary reasons.

Kenny Anderson scored 51 points in the Moline 108-80 drubbing of Decatur. The star Moline center got 22 field goals in 33 tries and needed only seven free throws to amass a new Maroon single game scoring standard. His mark wiped out the previous high of 39 points set last year against Decatur by Whitey Verstraete.

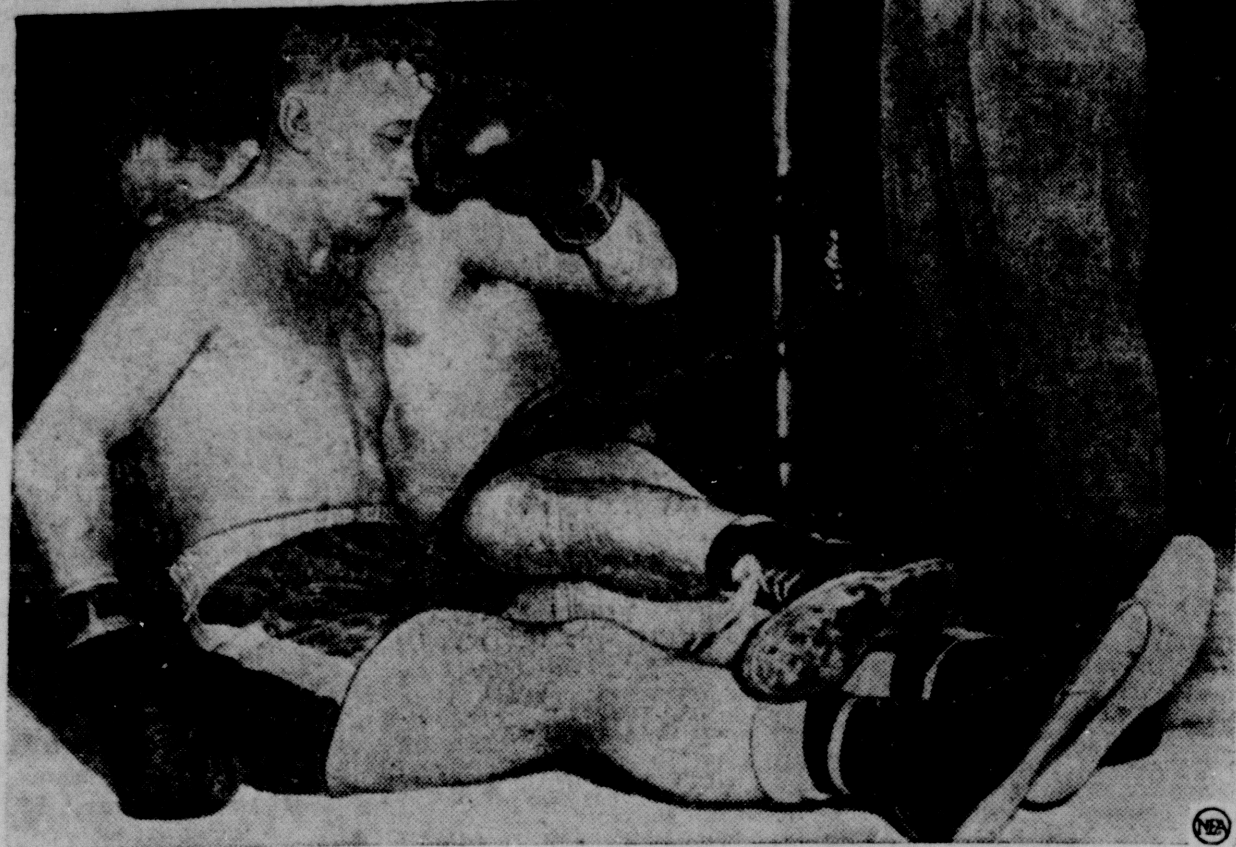

It was the highest number of points ever scored against Decatur. It may have been higher if Anderson had not been taken out for the last 3½ minutes.

Peoria Central won its 16th against only three defeats by conquering hard-fighting Jacksonville 70-63. Quincy Notre Dame needed a double-overtime to subdue Springfield Cathedral 71-69.

Cumberland, beaten but twice all year, outclassed St. Elmo 72-43. Pinckneyville got its 20th victory against three losses by freezing out Effingham 37-20.

Cardinals Open Spring Training Camp

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals opened their spring training camp Sunday with 48 players, including some of the varsity, reporting to new Manager Fred Hutchinson. There was no batting practice. Hutchinson had the athletes running, throwing and limbering up for two hours.

JACK CAME TUMBLING AFTER—Bobby Murphy, boxing's "Rookie of the Year" for 1955, finds himself on the canvas and welterweight opponent Jackie O'Brien on top of him during bout at Boston. Murphy fell during a clinch on the ropes and O'Brien followed.

Illinois Trounces Ohio State, 111-64; Freeman Held to 12 Points by Ridley, Judson

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois and Iowa's defending champs resume their dogged fight for the 1956 Big Ten basketball title tonight in the friendly confines of their home courts.

Illinois will try to stretch its winning streak to 14 games against Michigan at Champaign while Iowa is hosting dangerous Purdue at Iowa City.

The Illini, No. 3 team in the country according to the United Press' board of coaches, reached a season's peak Saturday in stifling Robin Freeman and Ohio State, 111-64.

Bill Ridley and Paul Judson took turns guarding Freeman, the nation's leading scorer, and held him to 12 points. He had been averaging 33.9 in 15 games and 34.3 in seven Big Ten contests. Rapid Robin's conference average dropped to 31.5 and gave Julius McCoy of Michigan State a chance to pass the Buckeye ace. McCoy's average is 30.1.

Nearly Reach Record
Illinois came within two points of tying the conference scoring record set by Indiana in its 113-77 triumph over Purdue in 1953. The 111 points were a new Illinois and Huff Gym record.

Iowa had a tight squeeze in edging lowly Northwestern, 70-65. The Wildcats led at half-time, 39-34, and almost caught up with the Hawks as he game ended.

The future schedule looks brighter for Iowa and more precarious for Illinois. Iowa plays five of its seven remaining games at home while the Illini are on the road in four of their last seven contests.

The key game of the season—Illinois vs. Iowa—will be played at Iowa City March 3 in the only meeting between the two teams this season.

Last Half Schedule
This is how the last half of the campaign shapes up for the leaders:

Illinois: (At home) Feb. 13, Michigan; Feb. 20, Purdue; Feb. 27, Minnesota. (Away) Feb. 18, Michigan State; Feb. 25, Ohio State; March 3, Iowa; March 5, Northwestern.

Iowa: (At home) Feb. 13, Purdue; Feb. 18, Wisconsin; Feb. 27, Minnesota; March 3, Illinois; March 5, Indiana. (Away) Feb. 20, Indiana; Feb. 25, Minnesota.

Indiana moved into a tie for fifth place with Ohio State Saturday by trouncing Michigan, 97-73. Archie Dees outscored Ron Kramer, 25-24, to pave the way for the Hoosiers.

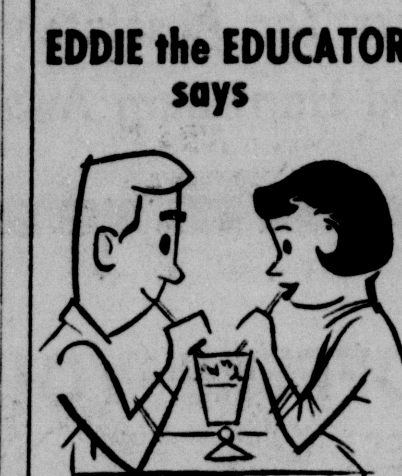

Minnesota upset Wisconsin at Madison, 77-71, to pass the Badgers and tie Michigan for seventh place.

Wisconsin travels to Indiana. Minnesota hosts Michigan State and Ohio State is at Northwestern in other conference games tonight.

Saturday, Illinois appears on afternoon television for the second straight week at Michigan State. Indiana is at Michigan, Iowa hosts Wisconsin and Minnesota is at Ohio State. Purdue travels to Notre Dame outside the conference. Purdue will also host the Irish Tuesday.

Carrier Mills Beats Galatia, 80-55; Final Home Game for Wildcats

A terrific scoring drive in the second quarter carried Carrier Mills to a 80-55 victory over Galatia Saturday night. The game was played on the winners' floor.

The two teams played on even terms through three quarters of the game, but in the second period Carrier Mills raced to 38 points while holding Galatia to 11 and that was the ball game.

This was the final home game of the season for Carrier Mills. Before home folks the team captured seven decisions and dropped three.

Before the start of the varsity game all members of the Senior class who have participated in the basketball program were called to the gym and introduced to the crowd with Warren Jennings, CMCHS principal, master of ceremonies. This is an annual custom.

Senior Recognized
Senior class members recognized were—band: Rosemary Bell, Carol Dunaway, Terry Gullede, George Henson, Wanda Holloway, Sue Miller, Pat Milligan, Peggy Tolbert and Dick Pyle; Drum major, David Overstreet; color guard: David Moake, Bill Parks and Joe Thornton; cheer leaders: Pat Flynn and Jackie Heaton.

Announcer on public address system, Richard Hill; team members: J. C. Storms, James Reid and Captain Oliver Rollins.

Galatia played even with Carrier Mills during the first quarter, leading by one or two points most of the time. However CM was on top 16-15 when the opening period ended.

Then came the storm. Carrier Mills racked up 38 points during the second quarter. Galatia could score but 11 and at halftime CM was way out in front, 54-26. In the last half CM scored 26 points and Galatia 29.

In the second quarter Carrier Mills hit a fine 636, connecting on 14 of 22 attempts from the field. Galatia shot only 14 times and hit just twice. For the game Carrier Mills had a shooting average of .452 with 33 goals in 73 tries. Galatia's average was .345 with 20 hits in 48 efforts.

Carrier Mills Wins Preliminary
An unusual feature of the game was that the two Carrier Mills starting guards—J. C. Storms and James Reid—played the same without having a foul called. The two played an aggressive type game, with Reid being particularly effective in the defensive rebounding department.

Three games remain on the Carrier Mills schedule—all away from home—Norris City Feb. 17, Rosiclare Feb. 24, and Eldorado Feb. 25.

Galatia has only one game or its schedule, at Shawneetown Friday, Feb. 17.

On the preliminary game Carrier Mills won from Galatia 67-55.

Shawneetown Fans Confident Indians Will Return to Champaign for Finals

By BOB ULLRICH
United Press Sports Writer
SHAWNEETOWN, Ill. (AP)—Nine young fellows from Shawneetown high school may well be the "Cinderella team" of Illinois prep basketball squads again this year.

Fans who have watched the Indians rack up 24 straight victories without a defeat think they will make it to Champaign again just as they did in 1955 for the Sweet Sixteen tourney.

Several of the Shawneetown fans have said they are ready to buy tickets now if it were possible.

Their confidence is shared by Coach Darwin Valters, but not to such a boundless extent.

Valters says he hopes his boys make it again, "but remember, we're worrying about one game at a time. If we win 'em that way, we'll be on our way."

Valters, a Tulane graduate of 1933 who put in two years of Army service, is in his first year of coaching the club. Six of the players who composed last year's "Cinderella team" are back on this year's roster.

Here's a rundown on the Shawneetown starters:

Jack Nolen, 6-4, top scorer averaging 19.1 points per game, whose tip-ins are bread-and-butter scoring and who excels as a rebound artist.

Jack Drone, 6-2, averaging 14.8; a standout performer on rebounds and a hard worker under the boards.

Alfred Gunzel, 6-2, with a 14.7 average, the huskiest player on the team and the best defensive man.

Ellis is Fast
Hobart Ellis, a 6-footer, with fast reflexes, making him a slick ball handler and a top pass interceptor.

Bob Stewart, 5-8, described by Valters as a "good little man" with lots of drive and a deadly long shot.

Stewart, a junior, will be the only regular for next year's squad. He and freshman Charles Maynard will form the nucleus of the new team. Other departing seniors are Mitchell Thraikill, Ted Coleman and Larry Underwood.

The Shawneetown victory march was almost halted once this season when the Indians emerged with a slim 69-68 win over Carrier Mills. A club they may meet again at the McLeansboro regional tournament.

Valters' secret of success calls for no set offensive pattern. He lets his team captain decide whether to use fast breaking or set-up plays. Defense is stabilized on a man-to-man pattern.

Attorney Denies Any Other Contributions

"implication" attached to what he described as "a perfectly clean, fair statement," by his client.

In questioning Neff, a Lexington, Neb., attorney, Committee Counsel Charles W. Steadman asked:

"Have you at any time since October, 1955, made contributions to the campaign funds of other senators in connection with the Harris-Fulbright natural gas bill?"

"I have made no other contribution to any senator's personal campaign fund," Neff replied.

Steadman told Neff he asked the question about other contributions because it was "pertinent" to the four-man committee's inquiry. He said that if a "pattern" were shown that would be of concern to the committee, even though the committee's investigation was "limited in scope."

Steadman also asked Neff several times when he was particularly interested in Case's attitude on the natural gas bill.

Neff said he knew that the Superior Oil Co., which he represents, was interested in learning various senators' attitude on the measure.

"I know they were interested in knowing Senator Case's opinion regarding the bill," he said.

Neff said he decided a campaign contribution should be made to Case after he visited the senator's office here on Jan. 12.

Neff did not see Case then, but talked to the senator's legislative clerk.

Steadman asked Neff why he felt it necessary to visit the senator's office, when he had learned previously from a friend of Case that the senator was inclined to favor the bill.

Neff said he was interested in seeing if the senator "was of the same opinion."

More Hearings Probable
"Did you have the $2,500 when you went to Senator Case's office?" Steadman asked.

"I did not," Neff answered.

George recessed the special committee hearings subject to call of the chair. When Case inquired from the audience about any more witnesses, George said those heard so far remain under subpoena.

George indicated his group may hold further hearings later, but did not say when or on what.

George said he could not say whether any additional witnesses would be called later.

The committee promptly went into a closed-door executive session, presumably to determine the future course of the inquiry.

Case told reporters that he did not desire to make any comment at this time on the results of the George hearings.

Case rejected Neff's contribution and voted against the natural gas bill which would remove independent natural gas producers from federal utility-type controls. Case also demanded that the Senate investigate the contribution. The Senate passed the bill 53-38 last week and it is now awaiting action by President Eisenhower.

IPAC to Shift Some of Burden To Federal Gov't

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Public Aid Commission changed rules today to shift more of its mounting financial burdens to the federal government.

The action was taken after the commission reported that at the present rate of spending three million dollars a month for general assistance, the funds provided by the 1955 Legislature would be used up by November, eight months ahead of time.

If funds are exhausted, a special session of the Legislature might be necessary to provide more money for general relief.

At its regular monthly meeting Friday, the commission changed its regulations so that its aid to dependent children program could take advantage of more federal help.

The IPAC cut the waiting period for aid to dependent children from six months to 60 days, permitting the transfer of many cases from general assistance to the ADC program.

For the children's aid, the federal government matches state contributions on a 50-50 basis. The result is to save the state money. General assistance is financed by state and local taxes.

Staff members of the commission said they also planned to liberalize requirements for the state's disability support, permitting more federal funds to be applied to these cases.

The commission also authorized Bond, Marion and Union counties to participate in the distribution of surplus food to welfare cases. Fifteen other counties already have permission to use surplus foods for that purpose.

When chartered in 1746, Princeton university was known as the College of New Jersey and was located at Elizabethtown.

Ike to Study Decision While on Visit to Georgia

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House announced today that President Eisenhower will fly to Thomasville, Ga., Wednesday to relax at the estate of Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey for a week or more.

While there, he will ponder his second term decision. But he is not expected to make any announcement until he returns to Washington. He said last week he expects to be ready to announce his decision by the end of this month.

Mr. Eisenhower will be accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower and her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud. Before he departs he will hear sometime Tuesday a re-evaluation of his medical future and present condition from four physicians who have been close to his case since he suffered a heart attack in Colorado last Sept. 24.

Doctors Meet Tuesday
The doctors will meet at the White House Tuesday, probably about noon. They will go over not only the records from the President's examination at Walter Reed Hospital Saturday, but all of the medical reports on his condition since his attack.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, famed Boston heart specialist, said in Los Angeles Sunday that the doctors will give the President "findings and a medical opinion" on his health after studying results of Mr. Eisenhower's latest physical examination.

But when the physicians report their findings to the President late Tuesday or Wednesday, White told United Press, there will be no recommendation on what he should do regarding a second term.

"That choice will be his," Dr. White said.
The Boston physician, in San Francisco today for speaking engagements, will fly to Washington tonight and join the President's other doctors for an analysis of tests given the President at Walter Reed Hospital Saturday.

Range of Tests
Saturday's examination, which included X-ray, fluoroscope, cardiogram and a blood chemistry analysis, was ordered to determine how the President has borne up under the full load of the presidency since he re-assumed that load at the first of the year.

The President has said the doctors' report will influence his decision — but not necessarily decisively — on whether to seek a second term.
"I've honestly got to be convinced that I can carry this job efficiently," the President said at his news conference Wednesday.

And he added, "I think I will probably trust my own feelings more than I will the doctors' reports."
Demands of Presidency
He said that he alone knew the demands of the presidency in terms of the "emotional strains" and the "periods of intense concentration" it entails.

The main slackening of pace has been his dropping of golf and seeing fewer courtesy callers at the White House.

Mother Reveals Secret Marriage of Actress Terry Moore
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actress Terry Moore was married secretly last New Year's Day in Las Vegas, Nev., to Eugene C. McGrath, 33-year-old insurance broker of Panama City, Panama, her mother said today.

Mrs. Lamar Koford, mother of the 28-year-old actress, said the marriage was kept secret until now because "my new son-in-law is not used to Hollywood publicity." She said the newlyweds are now honeymooning in Caracas, Venezuela.

It was the second marriage for both. The star was granted a divorce from Glenn Davis, former West Point All-American in 1952.

Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Mississippi celebrate April 26 as Confederate Memorial Day but North and South Carolina observed Confederate Memorial Day on May 10 while Virginia marks it on May 30.

Wings Over Jordan
Choir Fails to Make
Appearance Here

The Wings over Jordan got clipped somewhere along the line. This famed singing group, scheduled to appear last night at the First Methodist church, failed to appear.

A packed house was on hand and everything was in readiness. But no singers.

The group sent no advance notice of not being able to appear, so it was a blow when the time approached and there was no word from the singers.

There were reports that the group had made singing engagements at Shawneetown and Herrin, and that it had not made appearances at either place.

With a big crowd and no Wings over Jordan, the Methodist choir came to the rescue with a program that proved highly satisfactory.

The free will offering scheduled to pay for the special musical program was cancelled.

Top Democrats
Reflect Split
On Civil Rights

By United Press

The split within the Democratic Party over civil rights was clearly reflected today in the differing stands taken on the issue by its top contenders for the presidential nomination.

New York Gov. Averell Harriman, the latest to spell out his views, said he favored cutting off federal funds to public schools which refuse to end segregation. He also called for immediate federal enforcement of the Supreme Court's desegregation ruling.

He said the federal government should not "talk about 10 years or that sort of thing" as a waiting period before fully enforcing the Supreme Court's decree.

Following Harriman's statement Sunday, Adlai Stevenson reiterated his stand that there should be no slowing down of desegregation efforts. But, he said, "we must recognize that it is reason alone that will determine our rate of continued progress."

"Certainly we will not improve the present condition or future prospects of any Negro citizen by coercive federal action that will arm the extremists and disarm the men of good will in the South who with courage and patience, have already accomplished so much."

Stevenson earlier stated his opposition to amending the pending bill on federal aid for school construction to provide that no federal funds should go to segregated schools.

The third presidential contender, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), has hedged on this question. He said Friday his decision would depend on:

1. Whether the amendment's language could be framed consistently with the Supreme Court's desire for "orderly transition" and with allowance for "complex local problems" and 2. Whether the practical effect of the amendment would be to defeat the school aid bill.

In Republican political developments Sunday, the news concerned personalities more than issues.

Washington friends of Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Nixon will remain completely aloof from any efforts to build him up for the presidency while Mr. Eisenhower's 1956 plans are unknown.

And Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall denied again that Nixon ever called former President Harry S. Truman a "traitor" in the 1952 campaign. Hall said he would donate $1,000 to charity if such a charge could be proved.

Lloyd Says Burgess-McLean Incident
Shows Difficulty of Trust with Soviets

LONDON — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said today that the reappearance in Moscow of turncoat British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean "shows how difficult it is to establish relations of mutual trust" with the Soviet Union.

Lloyd made his observation while delivering a statement to the House of Commons on the strange case of the two former diplomats who disappeared in May, 1951, and popped up unexpectedly in Moscow last Saturday.

Lloyd told Parliament that while the Soviets "profess so much to desire" mutual trust, they had repeatedly greeted British questions about the two men with a "consistent lack of candor."

The foreign secretary angrily told Commons he placed "no credence" in the words of Burgess or MacLean, who denied in their reappearance news conference Saturday that they had been Communist spies.

Lloyd said the Soviet authorities probably permitted the two turncoats to come out of hiding in an effort to "create distrust and drive a wedge between the United Kingdom and United States governments."

"If this is the explanation, they will not succeed," he said.

He said Moscow also might have produced Burgess and MacLean now so that Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev could "avoid awkward questions" when they visit Britain in April.

Two British and two Russian newsmen, named without explanation to the television room of the Hotel National, were presented to Burgess and MacLean and given a three-page handout saying they fled Britain in May, 1951, "to work for better understanding between East and West."

The two fugitives refused to say where they are living or what they are doing in Russia.

Their handout charged neither Britain nor the United States is "working for peace" but officials here said its propaganda content was so innocuous as to make it appear Russia considers the two men totally insignificant.

State to Launch
Survival Plans
For Key Cities

CHICAGO — Gen. Robert M. Woodward, Illinois Civil Defense director, announced Sunday that his office has received full federal approval to launch its part in the nation's Survival Plan project.

The study, Woodward said, will result in workable evacuation and survival plans for key Illinois cities, enabling them to face various alert warnings of attack ranging from two to six hours.

He said plans emerging from the study will cover preparations for large-scale evacuation, shelter, warfare, casualty care, continuity of government, and the processing of evacuees to assembly and reception centers.

The area embracing northeastern Illinois, northwestern Indiana and southwestern Wisconsin has been designated by government defense officials as a "critical target" and "evacuation area," Woodward said.

He said that the Chicago metropolitan area and 14 other major cities in the United States will be surveyed in the initial study.

"Rock Island and Peoria may eventually be selected because of their criticality," Woodward said.

He said an East St. Louis, Ill., survey is being conducted as part of the St. Louis area project, with all of southern Illinois as part of the reception area for evacuees.
